

NAHS Women in STEM Career Day

This MASS STEM Week event will provide an opportunity for NAHS girls to meet with local women working in STEM fields and learn about their experiences. This event will be modeled after a Women's Career Day event held last spring. A keynote speaker will kick off the morning. Students will then meet in small groups with participants to learn more about specific jobs and the challenges of being a female in STEM fields. They can ask questions and get advice on pursuing a career in STEM.
